1. What financial applications have you used before?

- I have used the chase bank app and at some point a budgeting app to save for a car.
I have used venmo.

I have used the TD bank app

2. What is your experience with stock investments?

- I don't have much experience with stock investments other than learning how stocks work in a class.
I have some stocks in my name in companies like Google, Apple, Microsoft, Samsung, ect.

I have not had experience in stock investments, but if I were to I would invest in apple.

3. What is your perspective on having someone help with stock investments?

- I think it would work well with anyone who wants to get into investments but have no idea how and this would help them start and keep track of their investments
I think it would be helpful to people who want to make investments, but don't know how.

I think that the idea is good, but I would want someone that takes their job seriously and can actively increase my chances in making money.

4. What is your opinion on the reliability of AI models in finance?

- I think they are really useful in any finance model as they are more accurate and statistical than any human like an accountant, which also means they are more cost efficient.
- I think it could be helpful, but it has tons of security problems.
- They are useful. I just want to make sure they have strong security.
